

There's never been a better
time to live and work in Ireland

Ireland is a vibrant and exciting country
that attracts the brightest talent from around the world.

From modern cities with a fantastic social life to stunning scenery, there's something for everyone.

Business is thriving

Ireland has one of the fastest growing economies in Europe.

High growth sectors include: finance, pharmaceutical, technology and aviation.

The biggest global tech and finance companies are setting up here:

80% of the world's global tech companies have a base in Ireland, more than any other country in the world.

The economy grew by 7.8% of GDP last year, making it the European Union's fastest growing economy for the fourth year in a row.

With over 3,000 employees KPMG is the no. 1 firm in Ireland, leading in revenue and leading with opportunities for you to work with world class clients.

Location, location, location

Our offices are located in Dublin, Cork, Galway and Belfast. These cities are vibrant and multicultural hubs.

Something for everyone

There's a thriving arts and performance scene with grand galleries, pop-up exhibitions and award winning theatre productions. There's also a real foodie vibe with lots of great restaurants, markets and tasty street food.

Located at the heart of Europe

Just an hour's flight away from London and with lots of the main cities of Europe under a couple of hours away, Ireland has a great proximity the rest of Europe.

We're a very sporty bunch

Sports and social societies play a big role, whether its watching or participating – we get involved and will encourage you to join too.

We like to enjoy ourselves

We're known for being welcoming and good humoured. There's a strong sense of community here, and a huge appetite for fun. Our pubs are the best, and are emulated around the world – for good reason!

A picture postcard

- Dublin is a beautiful coastal city, with just a 30 minute train journey you can be surrounded by stunning scenery including mountains, lakes and seaside villages.
- Cork is the food capital of Ireland and if you are looking to kiss the Blarney Stone or travel the Wild Atlantic Way then Cork is where it all begins.
- Galway mixes bohemian cool and traditional culture. You can walk the sea promenade, enjoy great music in vibrant pubs or take a boat trip to Aran Islands.
- Belfast is home to the Titanic Quarter where the famous ship was build. A city with rich history, vibrant art scene and 5,000 acres of parkland and iconic coastline.

Why choose Ireland?

Facing the Atlantic Ocean and only a short flight from all major European cities, we are one of the most multicultural counties in the world!

We know how to have fun

Our Ireland offices are located in cities that are vibrant, multi-cultured, business hubs with a young population equipped with ambition and drive. Knowing to be a welcoming and picturesque country, Ireland is offering you many career opportunities.

Food, arts and culture

A rich heritage is waiting to be discovered in our traditional music, food and culture. With its ancient past, Ireland is built upon a collage of the generations which have come before us. From Vikings to Georgians you will find their ideas imprinted upon the country's DNA. However, today Ireland's heart beats with a vigour brought by the many cultures that reside within it. We are truly global, and while walking around our streets you will hear the many languages of a new Ireland.

Natural beauty

We are surrounded by stunning scenery, from coastal harbour to towns to beaches, mountains and breathtaking lakes. The Emerald Isle is often noted as being one of the most beautiful place on earth, with its endless brilliant green hills and dramatic cliffs that reach down to picturesque beaches and a turquoise sea, along with magnificent castles and charming villages.

10 things to do in Ireland

It's difficult to narrow down the list, but we think these destinations are among the best in the country.

- The Book of Kells
- Malahide Castle
- Glendalough Monastic Site and the Wicklow Mountains
- Cliffs of Moher
- Giant's Causeway and Titanic Museum
- Killarney National Park
- Blarney Castle
- Guinness Storehouse and Jameson Distillery, Dublin
- Wild Atlantic Way
- Ring of Kerry

What others have to say

Don't take our word for it. Here's what KPMG staff think.

Vincent Yu

Tax, KPMG Hong Kong

I joined KPMG Hong Kong in 2012 and decided to have an international experience in Ireland to learn about another way to work in KPMG and to experience a different culture. In KPMG Ireland, I am given the autonomy with suitable supervision to complete challenging tasks. I also have had different opportunities to attend external events to broaden my network and connections. There are sufficient supports and guidance within the firm which allowed me to settle in quickly. Beside work, Ireland is a beautiful country with a lot of friendly and helpful people. The rest of the Europe is also easily accessible from Dublin if one fancies a weekend trip somewhere else.

Kathie Li

Audit, KPMG USA

Going on an international rotation to Dublin has been one of the most rewarding decisions I've made, on both a professional and a personal level. This journey has provided countless new learning opportunities, from working with colleagues and clients of diverse backgrounds to gaining a new perspective from my peers. Like many others at the firm, I frequently say I love working at KPMG for the people and the culture, and the Dublin office is no exception.

Matheus Mouraria

Corporate Finance, KPMG Brazil

I joined the KPMG Deal Advisory department in Brazil in 2012, and envisaged the opportunity of joining a mobility programme to further develop my career and skills. When researching opportunities abroad, I learned about the Corporate Finance team in Ireland and their experience. KPMG Corporate Finance is the leading advisor in the infrastructure sector and M&A in Ireland (and globally), and has given me the opportunity to participate in high profile projects with relevant clients.

Ireland is a thriving country and has one of the most dynamic business environments in Europe, being a hub to international companies and investors, attracting people from around the globe. Being in Dublin has enabled me to work in a challenging environment with top class professionals, leading business development opportunities and large scale projects.

Nicola Wasserfall

Risk Consulting, KPMG South Africa

I started working at KPMG South Africa a little over three years ago and, thanks to the KPMG Global Mobility programme, I have had the opportunity to work in Mauritius for a year and have moved to Ireland for a two year secondment in Dublin, as a manager in Risk Consulting.

The Irish office provide services to a large variety of clients and I have had the opportunity to work on multiple projects that have allowed me to grow both technically and professionally. I have enjoyed working with my new Irish colleagues and value their commitment to delivering on projects with efficiency and a high level of quality. They have also ensured that I have felt incredibly welcome in their beautiful country from the day I started. Ireland was a great choice!

Keren Solloh

Audit, KPMG Kenya

"Never arrive, never stop learning and growing" is my mantra. In line with this mantra, an international experience was in the cards for me and when the opportunity to come to Ireland came up I was excited to take it up. Ireland's vibrant economy and diverse culture has offered an opportune environment to further cultivate my knowledge in financial services audit. At KPMG Ireland, I have been positively challenged and exposed to new insights and knowledge. I am placed in an amazing team with great leadership where I feel valued, well mentored and fully integrated into the team. KPMG Ireland is a great choice.
